

WAR FOR THE POPE

Ireland's Sensational Charges Against Corrigan.

MOST CONVINCING PROOFS

The Eastern Prelate Has Been Instigator of the Letters Against Sattoli and Ireland.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—The Chicago Sunday Post will publish tomorrow a long article containing the startling information that the most Rev. John Ireland, archbishop of St. Paul, has preferred formal charges against the most Rev. M. A. Corrigan, archbishop of New York. Archbishop Corrigan is accused of having engaged in an unlawful conspiracy to weaken or undo the effect of the Pope's decisions in respect to church matters in America, and of having recourse to methods unbecoming a prelate of the Roman Catholic church, and designed to discredit and disgrace archbishop Ireland and Mgr. Sattoli, the papal legate in America.

These charges, duly formulated, are now on their way to Rome, where they will be presented to the highest tribunal in the Roman Catholic church. That tribunal has power to pass upon the accusations and to fix the punishment of the accused if they are sustained. The decision will be anxiously awaited, for each of the prelates have been considered as an object of the Pope's favorable regard in respect of the new American episcopate, and the approaching jubilee, and the future of both prelates will in all probability be decided by the result of the tribunal's deliberations.

Wide Spread Treason. The differences between Archbishop Ireland and Archbishop Corrigan are of long standing, and each has a large following among the hierarchy, priesthood and laity of the church in America, and all these are likely to be more or less affected by the decision.

A portion of the documentary evidence against Archbishop Corrigan has fallen into possession of the Sunday Post. These documents are interpreted by the reverend prelate's accusers to indicate the existence of a conspiracy of which the archbishopal residence in New York is the center, and which extends in numerous directions throughout America into France and Italy and even to the shadow of St. Peter's itself. Soon after the conference of archbishops at New York in October, mutterings against the findings of the Pope on the school question began to be heard, coupled with criticisms of Archbishop Ireland and Mgr. Sattoli.

The secular press began to team with letters containing statements and insinuations, disagreeably affecting both these prelates. When Dr. McManister was restored a few days ago, matters reached a climax and the most unreserved criticisms appeared. Letters expressing the same sentiments appear simultaneously in widely separated cities with remarkable coincidence. It is now apparent that Archbishop Ireland and Mgr. Sattoli were the targets of a skillful and far-reaching propaganda.

The Letter. A few days ago a Roman Catholic layman of Chicago received the following letter from Archbishop Corrigan: "Dear Sir:—A friend of mine wishes to publish in the west an article on the school question which he is to read to you at the next meeting of the Synod. He is a good man, and I am sure that the article is published, as I am sure in advance that the writer's views are worth listening to. A friend of mine, a bishop, has called my attention to an article on the school question which appeared in the Chicago Herald last October or September. Can you hunt it up for me? With best Christmas wishes I am very faithfully yours, M. A. CORRIGAN."

By mail, a few days later, the layman received, under cover of an envelope postmarked "New York," the article referred to in Archbishop Corrigan's note. The article was dated at Philadelphia and purported to be an interview with an ecclesiastic of that city. The article is made up of extracts from the famous memorial of Archbishop Ireland, which has never been published; the authority to publish which, rests solely with the Pope, or his authorized agent, and Archbishop Ireland. These extracts are discussed minutely the disadvantages of Archbishop Ireland, his veracity, his good faith and his colleagues and his loyalty to the Roman Catholic church being impugned.

A Cowardly Attack. "I say decidedly," the Philadelphia ecclesiastic reported as saying, "that the English Catholics may have been driven to accept a treacherous, anti-catholic, unrepudiated system, and the Irish may have been beaten into such a system, and the whole European continent may have been forced to accept the same system, including Prussia and Italy; but American Catholics will accept no such system, and Archbishop Ireland cannot force it on us. Mgr. Sattoli, when he has been here fifty years, and knows the country, will tell Archbishop Ireland when I tell you now."

Other letters have been received by church laymen from priests belonging to Archbishop Corrigan's immediately entourage, some of them being signed by Dr. McManister, J. McManister, a nephew of the archbishop, and Patrick's Cathedral, New York. They appeal to the various addresses to use their influence to secure the publication of articles protesting against Archbishop Ireland's influence at Rome and Mgr. Sattoli's interference in American affairs.

Second—Letters from prominent Archbishop Corrigan's household to various laymen who have access to the secular press, appealing for help in an anti-Ireland crusade.

Third—The publication of an anti-Ireland pamphlet written by Fr. Gerardo Ferranti, Archbishop Corrigan's Italian secretary, and translated by Mgr. Corrigan of Jersey City.

Fourth—The publication of a similar pamphlet ostensibly by an ecclesiastic at Grenoble, France, but whose authorship has been traced to New York.

Fifth—The extraordinary activity of Miss Ide, now resident in Rome, and said to be an agent of Archbishop Corrigan. She is said to have been instrumental in sending numerous cables which appeared with surprising opportuneness for the Corrigan side of the controversy.

Sixth—The surprising unanimity and activity of anonymous anti-Ireland "lay correspondents."

The Corrigan Philadelphia article was submitted to Mgr. Sattoli at Washington, but he declined to discuss the article, explaining his refusal in these significant words: "It is probable that the accusations contained in the attack, together with other accusations of a like nature and from the same source, may come up before me officially in the course of time and affairs."

Dr. O'Gorman's Views. Dr. O'Gorman of the faculty of the Catholic university at Washington, where Mgr. Sattoli is staying, expressed his views of the article as follows: "Cowardly malice and an intention of harming the venerable person of Archbishop Ireland stand out in every page of this abominable production. In the pamphlet before the character of a libel and deserves nothing but universal contempt and reproach. The writer assumedly must be some one ignorant of the real condition of things in America and of the church in the United States; and although he has a certain way of expressing himself, still it is apparent that he has sold his pen to others—to those, namely, who supplied him with materials and who bought him in order to have an opportunity of giving vent in this way to their malignity and to the anger that falls upon their souls against the sentence given by the holy see in favor of Archbishop Ireland, whom they are trying in every way to malign."

INDIANS SWINDLED.

How That One Hundred Thousand Dollars Was Distributed at Pine Ridge.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7.—Friends of Dr. Charles R. Eastman, agency physician at Pine Ridge, tell a story of the distribution of $100,000 among Indians there, and throw a new light on the transaction. Special Agent J. H. Cullen, who was sent to investigate the charges of crookedness, has completed his work, but the report has not yet been made public. It is said at the agency that it charges Agent Brown and an officer named Cooper, who disbursed the money with gross fraud, the money being divided among the chiefs of the reservation. When the money was paid, the Indians were gathered together and passed through a turnstile, each one signing the release of his claim as he passed out. The witnesses who were supposed to see the money being paid to each Indian only saw the signatures. The money was paid at another desk twenty feet away and in many cases was only 20 percent of the amount of the claim. The Indians complained and through Dr. Eastman had the investigation ordered.

RIVER BOATS IN DANGER.

Another Ice Gorge at Cincinnati May Ruin the Fleet.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—The ice in the Ohio river at this point is again gorged and experienced river men say the shipping and coal fleets here are in more peril than ever. There is talk of trying to open a channel on the south side of the river so as to prevent the ice crushing upon the steamboats to the landing, but a single view of the present ice conditions makes the project seem impossible. It is reported that the harbor boat comes to rest in the ice several miles below the city, where she went to secure some coal barges that were broken loose last evening. The steamboats that are now at the landing all keep steam up and await their fate. They are the Tacoma, Boston, St. Lawrence, Iron Queen, John K. Speed, New Mary House, Fleetwood, City of Madison, Carrollton, Bonanza and Low Boat Eagle. Across the river a New York is the Shirley and the City of Vevey.

HONORED JACKSON'S MEMORY.

Bourbon Democrats Have a Celebration in the Blue Grass Country.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 7.—Jackson Day was celebrated tonight by a joint meeting of the Bandana, Watterson and Jackson societies. John Young, Young Brown presided and Col. John R. Fellows of New York was the orator of the evening. Colonel Fellows opened his address by saying that he came straight to the home of democracy, from the fair of the tiger. He eulogized the memory of Jackson in energetic words, but without fulsome flattery. At the conclusion of Colonel Fellows' address the members of the clubs and their guests proceeded to discuss an informal banquet at which toasts appropriate to the occasion were responded to.

Alleged Abortionist in Trouble.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Dr. Frederick Meislerfeld has been arrested, charged with causing the death of a woman, Mrs. M. M. Dixon, 25 years old, and Mrs. Stella Dunham, aged 19 years, by criminal operations. Mrs. Dixon died last week, while Mrs. Dunham died today. Meislerfeld has been indicted and committed for trial. He has faced the coroner several times on previous charges, but the crime could not be fastened on him.

Will Get a Jury in Six Weeks.

CHICAGO, Wyo., Jan. 7.—The cattlemen's trial is apparently nearly as distant as a week ago. All day was taken up with the examination of the jurors, but few of whom appeared to stand any chance of being chosen. General Bonnellman, one of the attorneys for the invaders, said this morning that it would probably take five and maybe six weeks to secure a jury.

Fish Farms Fail.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7.—The failure of the fish farms of D. Y. Howell & Son of this city has involved three other fish farms, Wickham & Son, Fort Harrison H. Co., Fort Snodgrass, and G. E. St. John, Fort Union. The trouble started several years ago, when the Wickham began cultivating the Howells.

ARMY BILL TO PASS

Von Caprivi Is Calmly Waiting for Results.

TALKING OF WILHELM'S THREAT

Recruiting Divisions Are Being Established Through Germany—The Miners' Strike at Saar Is Broken.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—The reichstag will resume its sitting on Tuesday. The committee of the house, to which was referred the army bill, will meet on Wednesday. Chancellor von Caprivi has requested the president of the committee to ask the members to expedite their deliberations in order to retard the final decision of the reichstag for which, he said, he is not alone, but all Europe awaits with anxiety. Nothing is now heard of the chancellor's retirement from office. His position with the emperor is stronger than ever, and his development of personal resources, fitness and audacity staggers his opponents, who are becoming weak under the apprehension that the bill will be passed without a single concession of importance being made by the government.

The opposition papers are trying to raise a popular storm over the emperor's recent use of the phrase, "I will crush (Schermettern), those who oppose me." The Freisinnige Press assumed that the words meant that the emperor intends to override the vote of the reichstag, should it be possible, to the army bill by a resort to the application of article 59 of the German constitution by which every able bodied man may be compelled to serve in the army, and article 65, which enables the emperor to fix the strength of the army. It is a defect in the constitution that while it grants the emperor such a right, the powers of the reichstag over the military budget are not clearly determined. The emperor who in 1866 went to war, got the Prussian diet to afterward vote an indemnity.

Diplomatic Silence.

Now Prince Bismarck assails the emperor and Chancellor von Caprivi as intending violators of the constitution. According to the belief entertained in official circles the chancellor has completed a statement giving the private reason for the government's demands for an increase in the number of army effective. This reason, it is said, is that an increase of the effective is indispensable, not only in the present, but in any army measure that might be proposed. The chancellor, having nothing more to tell, the committee ought to report promptly, but the members representing the center or clerical party remain in a state of indecision, expecting the chancellor to offer an inducement that will suffice to excuse their surrender when they are called upon to face their constituents.

The clerical papers vaguely hint that the negotiations of the party with the government will be upon the basis of the Jesuits to Germany, the price of the party's support. None of those within the inner circle believes that the chancellor has committed himself on the question. The utmost length to which he has gone is believed to be a promise, extending to the government supporters to take an independent course when the center party gets a remote chance of dividing the reichstag on the Jesuit question. In his private dealings with the leaders of the several parties, the chancellor is displaying much tact, and a course of action is such as to elicit the admiration of even his adversaries.

The Emperor's Remarks.

He warns the members of the reichstag to defy the personal will of the emperor, calls upon them to vindicate the rights of parliament and cautions the government against the perils of unconstitutional practices which are in danger of the unity of the empire. The abundant partisan fury expended over the much discussed phrase seems to be wasted, since the official organs deny that the emperor used the language as attributed to him by the press. The official papers suggest that if the language was used at all, it was directed at military personages who are unfriendly to the bill. Upon this suggestion appearing, report at once indicated that General von Waldersee, who visited the court this week. There was no sign that he had incurred imperial displeasure.

It is probable that the emperor met the threat generally, if he used it at all, not designing to attack the privileges of the reichstag or any particular person. The war office is taking action anticipatory to the passage of the bill, ordering new arrangements in the recruiting divisions throughout Germany. In ten centers, including Berlin, Frankfurt, Stettin and Magdeburg, new revision councils are being formed with a view to the extension of recruiting.

Princess Marie's Wedding.

The strike of the Saar miners is expected to collapse next week, owing to the lack of both popular and trade support. The strikers and their families are in a starving condition, and the fact tends greatly to weaken the resistance. The strike will be but another instance of the futility of miners' associations, without the means, attempting to fight the combined capital of the mining companies.

The duke and duchess of Edinburgh accompanied by Princess Marie, who will be married on Tuesday next to the crown prince of Romania, left Coburg tonight for Sigmaringen, where the ceremony is to take place. The other children of the duke and duchess were in the party.

A German servant proposes to drown the Elbe and other rivers by means of electricity. He claims that an electric current passed through the water will cause a mineral change that will kill cholera and other germs. He says that sewers can be disinfected in a similar way.

The Jewish community of Berlin, having finally decided against sending a petition to the emperor for protection against the outrages perpetrated on them, a number of malicious have resorted to various offices called by them.

unusually quiet. The only function on the Thursday reception at the legation.

JOCKEY CLUB MAILED.

The Sensation Which Ticked the Palates of Vienna Gossips.

VIENNA, Jan. 7.—The police yesterday evening made a raid upon the Jockey Club, on suspicion that illegal games were being played in its rooms. The card rooms crowded at the time with the elite of the aristocratic and diplomatic circles of Vienna, and large sums of money were at stake. The police seized 450,000 florins in cash and checks, and took the names of those present for future action. The prince de Montenuove, president of the Jockey Club, hastened to the officers of the ministry of justice to protest against the action of the police, and to complain that the course taken was unjustifiable. The prince was informed that the emperor himself had especially sanctioned the raid. The prince thereupon promised that gambling would cease at the club. It is believed that the money seized will be returned to its owners.

Tally for Ireland.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, made a speech tonight that is worthy on account of the freedom of his remarks for the people of Ireland. In the course of his remarks he said that the government was persuaded that migration was preferable to immigration, that the government would do its best to meet the wishes of the Irish; but he feared that it would be impossible to do anything in the matter during the coming session of parliament.

Must Be a Somsambulist.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—A dispatch from Bogota, capital of Colombia, says that the president of Colombia is awaiting the arrival of a delegate from the liquidator of the Panama company in order to consider the question of renewal of Panama concessions. The conditions of renewal, published in an American newspaper, are declared to be purely imaginary.

Will Forgive Them.

ROME, Jan. 7.—A decree of general amnesty will be issued in Italy on the occasion of the silver wedding of King Humbert and Queen Margherita on April 22. Among the beneficiaries of the decree will be Italians in the United States, who have failed to render the required military service in Italy.

Deadly Boiler Explosion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 7.—A frightful accident is reported from Eischischek, in the province of Wilna. The boiler of a steam locomotive exploded, and six persons were instantly killed and fifteen mortally wounded.

Kicked Out of France.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—Four Russians suspected of being spies have been arrested in this city at the instance of the Russian ambassador, and will at once be conducted to the frontier and warned not to return to France.

PLATE GLASS TRUST.

The Manufacturers Combine to Save Themselves From Ruin.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7.—A meeting was held here today, on the best authority, that all the plate glass manufacturers in the country, except one in this city, had organized a trust. The exception is the Crystal City Plate Glass company. There are ten plate glass factories in America. The officers of the trust are said today that the only reason the Crystal had not gone into the deal, was because the laws of Missouri will not permit. For the past five years prices have been steadily falling, and the combination is for the purpose of keeping it up. About $20,000,000 is invested in the plate glass works of America.

Will Break the Dead-Block.

DENVER, Jan. 7.—The dead-lock in the Colorado legislature, which has broken Monday. The democrats and populists held a conference last night and practically agreed to join forces and only the details remain to be fixed up. Padlock, the populist candidate for secretary will be sacrificed, at the understanding that he will be carried for Governor Waite. In pursuance of this agreement the session of the senate this morning was very brief and at 1:30 this afternoon the two houses met in joint session to listen to the governor's message. The message was devoted exclusively to state affairs.

What English Fighters Want.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—George Atkinson, Richard K. Fox's London correspondent, sends the following telegram on sports which is just now interesting Englishmen: "LONDON, Jan. 7.—Ted Pritchard, the champion of England, will not go to America to fight for the £1,000 purse offered by the Olympic club. George Bard desires to match Pritchard against Billy Murphy of Australia. Tom Williams, champion of Australia, sails for New York on the Italia. Frank P. Slavin challenges Joe Goddard to fight in England or America for the largest purse."

Allison Breaks Down Again.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Chief Allison of the manufacturers' department of the world's fair, who recently broke down from overwork and more lately from the effects of a cold, has been taken to his office by a hired car and is unable to leave his sick bed today. Director General Davis is somewhat alarmed, as arrangements for some manufacturers' ball have not been made as promptly as desired.

Adena, "English Bernhardt."

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Miss Bernhardt, the English actress whose success on the stage during her brief sojourn was not a general success, is expected to appear in New York today for the first time on the New York stage.

Declines the Honor.

JOHN MORLEY, Jan. 7.—Dr. Thomas of Highlands, N. Y., who in October last was elected bishop of the episcopal diocese of the episcopal church, has declined to accept the honor. His reasons are not given, but the decision is known to be final.

Talked Too Long.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—The Olympic club, tired of the bickering over the men's training expenses, have declared a moratorium on the subject.

France Needs It.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The French line steamer La Cassagne, which sailed at 11 a. m. last night for Havre, took out $250,000 in gold.

HIS EAR WAS HOT

Chandler Roasts Dr. Wyman in the Senate.

THE QUARANTINE BILL AGAIN

One Million Dollars to Be Used at the President's Discretion to Keep Out Plagues and Cholera.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The two days assigned for the consideration of the bill as to quarantine and as to suspending immigration have proved to be too short a time for the disposal of even the first of these measures, and the short order has been extended so as to include Monday next, after which if the measures be not then disposed of the anti-option bill will in all probability displace them. A vote might have been raised on the quarantine bill today had not Mr. White (democrat) of Louisiana avowed his purpose to prevent it, nor would he give his consent to have the final vote taken on Monday, inasmuch as he had learned that several gentlemen from New Orleans were now on their way to Washington to present their views in opposition to the measure.

Among the amendments to the quarantine bill that were agreed to today was one substituting the words "other contagious and infectious diseases" for the words "yellow fever," and one making an appropriation of $1,000,000 to be at the disposal of the president to meet the exigencies in the execution of the provisions of the law.

Very Hot Shot.

An amendment which was offered by Mr. Squire, republican, Washington, designating the supervising surgeon general of the Marine hospital service as the officer by whom certain duties were to be executed, met with considerable discussion and some unpleasant criticism—Mr. Chandler intimating that Dr. Wyman had been using influence at the capital in order to have such a complimentary paid him; and that, republican, Connecticut, and Teller, republican, Colorado, declaring that in that case he was not the proper man for the position, and his friends were doing him great injustice and harm.

Mr. Chandler's statements were contradicted by Mr. Mitchell, republican, Oregon, who, with Mr. Callahan, democrat, Florida, defended Dr. Wyman from the attacks made upon him, and characterized him as a man of high character and delicate consideration and intimated that the outside influence which were at work were being exerted by persons adverse to the marine hospital service. Finally Mr. Squire withdrew the amendment, expressing himself satisfied with a modification suggested by Mr. Harris, and which was approved by the senate.

TO ESCORT THE CARAVELS.

The Newark Abroad Picking Up Columbus Relics.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The United States cruiser Newark, in command of Admiral Benham, arrived at Cadiz, Spain, today, according to a cable dispatch received by the navy department, and her officers set to work immediately in superintending the fitting out of the Columbus caravels Nina and Pinta for their voyage across the Atlantic to take part in the naval review at Hampton Roads in May and to be exhibited later at the world's fair. The Newark will act as convoy to the caravels on their westward journey.

After the work of fitting out is completed she will proceed to Naples and secure the Italian manuscripts and Columbus relics which are to be exhibited at the world's fair. The Newark will act as convoy to the caravels on their westward journey.

WILL DOWN CASEY.

The Senatorial Fight in North Dakota Is Growing Rather Warm.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 7.—The bitterness of the senatorial contest was materially increased today upon the announcement that the candidacy of Kingman was made as a cat's paw for Casey. This is already having a bad effect on the Casey canvass although Kingman's strength has never exceeded six. Mr. Casey returned to Bismarck today. Ex-Governor Ordway is expected Monday and Congressman Johnson will arrive on Wednesday. Ex-Governor Burke is getting a boom to day it and will not be surprising if he should lead in the balloting at the outset. Senator Casey is evidently certain to be defeated. The democrats have about determined to nominate W. N. Roach of Grand Forks or Col. John B. Benton of Fargo. The populists will nominate E. M. Mason of Jamestown, but will be open to a trade at any time. It seems probable the republican candidate can be beaten.

AFRAID OF EXPENSE.

A Congressman Makes Himself Ridiculous Over an Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The house was engaged the entire day in consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The only incident of interest was a discussion as to the amount which the general government should appropriate for the support of the district and this discussion was merely an impromptu one. It, however, enabled Mr. Olin of Kansas to present his reasons why the government should pay no more than a dollar of the appropriation to the district, and Mr. DeLoach of Missouri, to explain his disapproval of the government's appropriation upon itself any part of the expense. But the house did not concern with either of these gentlemen and the president of the senate, in the general government and the district government to divide the expense. Without disposing of the bill, the house adjourned.

Mr. Harbo of Ohio, from the committee on immigration, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection of immigration authorities, prepared at the port of departure, on information, reported to the house today recommending the bill introduced by Senator Chandler and passed by the senate in July last, to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States. In addition to conforming to the present requirements of the law, the bill is intended to furnish inspection